Meeting 2 - March 2, 2022

- Availability for baby food is based on age range when they have it in stock among other criteria
- Overall said it looks good
- Likes the status bar for order progress
- Having dates of birth for household members is better than just having ages
- Have to figure out functionality around greyed out dates not just times for orders (ie can't have a person order more than once in a two week time period)